European Certificate for Classics

Jeroen Vis, coordinator ECCL

Euroclassica organized also this year the European Certificates Classical Languages, shortly ECCL. There were exams of two different levels: Vestibulum (first level) and Ianua (second level). The Greek texts were about the Sirens and Alcibiades, participants of Latin read a different myth of the origins of the city of Rome and an excerpt of the 'Res gestae divi Augusti'. The results of 13 participating countries have been send in, which can be seen in the tables below. Additional information about the exams, such as the prerequisites for each level and exams of previous years can be found on the website of Euroclassica. The 2026 exams are expected to be ready in September. ■
